

Simplex Appoints New Regional Sales Manager

Simplex Fire Products is delighted to take this opportunity to officially Welcome John Cunningham to the Simplex Fire Products team.

John has taken on the role of QLD Sales Manager and will be working closely with our new systems Engineer Joseph Gonda when he arrives in June (2008), to revitalise the Simplex QLD business and start to make positive steps to sales growth in this region.

John comes to us with 10+ years experience in management and sales of, electronic, mechanical control and fire detection systems, and has completed several industry courses including Business Management at Charles Sturt University in, NSW. John has worked for SimplexGrinnell in the US selling the 4100 products range, ADT and recently Wormalds QLD and has already established relationships with key customers such as UQ and QUT.

John shows a great deal of passion for the Simplex products and has good vision on what is required to build the QLD business. Please join us in welcoming John to the Simplex team.
